Another Lawn Tennis Club
The game of lawn tennis has attained a state of popularity and reached a degree of perfection that its inventor and early players could hardly have dreamed of. In this city its progress has been so startling that observers express themselves as confident that in a short time it will have usurped the place now held by base ball. Already there are over a half dozen clubs organized to enjoy this healthful and entertaining amusement during the coming season.

Another club has been organized and has taken the name of the West End Club, making four lawn tennis clubs on the west side alone—the West End Club, the Crescents, the Diamond Club and the Mason Street Club. The members of the West End Club are Mr and Mrs T C Hardy, Misses Florence Adams, Ada Boyd, Clara Eymann, Gertrude Randolph, Nora Radcliff, Madge Williams, Marna Freeman, Mary Blufford and Marie Brock ingham, and Dr Keeley, Messrs B D W Johnson, Walter Boyd, George E Miller, Gus Wilmette, Charles Dawson, Breck Irwin and Arthur Flood. The courts for this club will be constructed on the Buckingham lawn and as a number of this club have wielded the racket in years gone by, some excellent games may be expected.

A Young Man in Trouble Charles Singapore, the young man who had $112 and beat his way to Decatur on the Wabash by stealing a ride on the front end of a baggage car, is in the custody of the officers and is liable to remember Decatur a long while. He was arrested for trespass, and the Wabash detectives and local police tried to get the young man to go out of town by paying his way. He did go to the ticket office yesterday and in person bought a ticket to St. Louis and then he bought a ticket for Chicago. Every dollar he had when arrested was properly accounted for to the cent in the presence of witnesses, and yet he lingered about to complain that he was $10.05 short. He was put under $5.00 cash bond for his appearance for trial. He failed to appear and this morning he was re-arrested on a state warrant charging him with trespass. The fine for stealing a ride on a railway train is from $3 to $100. The young man says he has no relatives and that he got on the train at St. Louis to ride to Chicago in order to save the fare. The officers believe Singapore to be a crook of the blinding sort and he will be treated as such. His contention that any of the officers would appropriate his money can not be substantiated. It is not true.

MISS MARY HAYS was surprised last Choice refreshments were served during the evening.

Mrs Helena Medjeska, who is starring jointly with Edwin Booth this evening and who will appear with him at the Grand to-night, is a Polish actress and has been before the American public many years. She is a woman of handsome appearance, one of the best dressers on the stage, and is a lady of fine social qualities. Her husband is a real count, and a man of splendid ability. During her last engagement at Indianapolis several ladies gave her a brilliant reception, and she was much admired for her wonderful bearing.

JANUSCHKE COING.
For positively the last time in the local history of our city we are to have the great Januscheck, who is upon her final tour of this country. In this great actress is combined all that goes to make the histrionic art noble and sublime. In the annals of the tragic art no actress stands out so bold and bold—no utterly complete in all that goes to exemplify perfection in every sense of the word. Her energy is ceaseless—her tact exquisite—her skillful zeal genuine—her histrionic art unequalled. But once in a generation does such a marvel in dramatic history come upon the boards, and Januscheck stands grandly, sublimely alone in the decade as the severe yet brilliant successor of Rachel, Ristori, who live only in the memories of our elders. The height of her massive sublimity and the moving depth of her tender pathos are beyond all criticism because there is no model by which to compare or judge her—she is simply beyond compare—she is Januscheck. The Madame, most ably supported by her own large and excellent company, will render an elaborate production of the great romantic drama, "Meg Merrilies" at the Decatur Grand Opera House on Thursday evening, May first.

CHAT ABOUT TOWN.

—What will the harvest be in Chicago to-day? The Short Line magnates will meet to decide on electric railway extension in Decatur.

—What church will Booth and Medjeska attend to-morrow? The company of 30 people will probably remain in the city until Monday when they go to Bloomington.

—Why not paint and fix up your house?
Your neighbor is doing it. Fall in line and help paint the town in pleasing colors.

—The new city council will not meet until May 5th, when Mayor Kanan may be prepared to present his annual list of appointments for confirmation. The list is not always presented on the night of the first meeting.

—It is rumored that the contemplated sewers, involving an outlay of nearly $140,000, will not be constructed this year. By some it is considered that the new council will do well if it lets the contracts this season. There are no bids yet launched in by Decatur contractors.

—In a few days the Citizens' company will begin laying the double electric track down Water and East Main streets to Lincoln Square. Manager Ferguson will have the work done promptly as soon as he can get the iron.

—There are said to be three Democrats in training for the Bourbon nomination for Sheriff. They are Herman Menckes, of Oakley, J S Hughes and Peter Perl, of Decatur, and each aspirant thinks he is stronger than the other. Ask the Ehr-man how it goes to run for Sheriff on the Democratic ticket?

"Marriage in High Life" While Squire Curtis was entertaining a large assembly of congenial spirits at his office last evening upon the allu-ments of what and the disadvantage of leading trumps under certain circumstances, there was a knock at the door of the temple of even handed justice, and a lady entered to inquire if the Squire could marry a couple. Visions of the statutory fee, and possibly a higher one, loomed up like eight high trumps promising a "slam," and the Squire with his customerly gallantry, responded "Certainly, certainly madam!" The door closed and it reopened again. In came the candidates for matrimonial bliss.
They were John W. Morehead, a cripple of Champagne, a young man of 23, of small stature and modest demeanor, and Miss Jennie Brogan, who confessed that she was 20, and that she was born at Lebanon, Ill. They stood up before the Squire, and the responses were given with a firmness that told of a long courtship and of an eagerness to start upon the wedding tour. The groom forgot to take off his hat during the ceremony, and the couple stood so far apart that at the bidding of the Squire to join hands they simply touched each others fingers for a moment. John signed his name and the bride made her mark. Then H W Sherwood and J M Lee affixed their signatures as witnesses of the marriage, and the ceremony was over, except the payment of the fee. The groom rather obeyed the happy occasion by stating that he didn't have a cent, but John Brogan, brother of the bride, promised to see that the fee was paid, and the Squire said with the air of a Monte Cristo "That's all right, that's all right." Exit bride and groom. The reporter learned that Mr. Morehead and bride would forego the pleasures of a tour, and would make their home for the present in Peacerville.

ple's Society of Christian Endeavor, of John H Barrows, D D, of Chicago, will day evening, May 25, Rev Frank W Gunsaulus, D D, of Chicago, will lecture on "Savonarola." Both lecturers are Chicago, and each will have a large hearing in Decatur. Tickets for the two lectures will be sold at 75 cents, and no extra charge for reserved seats.
